

SpiritNow.com

PRESENTS

TOP 100
PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS

FOR

A collection of 2011 predictions from the world's top psychics and astrologers.

TABLES OF CONTENTS

Carmen Harra.....	3
Derek Calibre.....	7
Donna Henes.....	9
Jenny Smedley.....	10
Laura Scott.....	12
Dr. Patricia Bell.....	14
Zachary Selig.....	15
Christopher Renstrom.....	18
Phyllis King.....	23
Jane Doherty.....	26
Psychic Cyd.....	28

2011 Psychic Predictions and Beyond: Carmen Harra

Major new stories in 2011

As a result of our economic and natural disasters, we will see government leaders coming together in a way they haven't before and discussing where humanity is headed and what we need to do. We will see less emphasis on celebrities and the trivial stories of the past because we will be dealing with so many serious problems. The biggest news of 2011 will be about a form of leadership we haven't seen before, leaders of the world coming together to avoid catastrophe. Remember when the Berlin Wall came down, and Reagan and Gorbachev came together, how much of a surprise that was and how big a shift we experienced? I see something that dramatic, where leaders reach common ground.

I feel that Eastern Europe, like Romania and Bulgaria, will have serious problems, and I also see a lot of turmoil in France and England.

Numerology of 2011 and 2012

The events of 2011 are influenced by the numerology of 2011. 11 is the number of enlightenment and 2 the number of healing and 4 is the planet Uranus, the planet of awakening, and sudden changes. Also, the number 4 represents the level of the 4th dimension. Then, in 2012, we are affected by the energy of number 5 (2 plus 0 plus 1 plus 2 adds up to 5), the number of the fifth dimension.

The Economy

Unfortunately, our economy is weakening. It's as if we have a cancer that has metastasized, and we have to get serious about addressing it systemically. The real turn around will be in 2018, when there will be a big breakthrough. It's almost as if we bring in a new organ and transplant it, metaphorically speaking. The economic problems are global, but the one place that will be an oasis in this time of upheaval will be Australia. They won't face the same economic drama that the rest of the world will face.

In the U.S., I see people having more time before foreclosures happen and banks backing off from pressuring them. Laws regarding bankruptcy and foreclosure and credit cards will have to change because of the situation. If you are facing foreclosure, stay in your house and fight, don't do anything drastic out of fear and panic. Look into the help that is available; more people will be able to stay in their homes.

We will gradually see that the small group of elite, ultra wealthy people who have tremendous power in the world are going to lose power.

The big economic changes that are coming may sound scary but it's all for our own good because we have to change the financial inequities around the world. We are at the beginning of the process, waking up to the unfairness of the current system.

Earthquakes and Natural Disasters

As I've said, 2010 is the year of earthquakes, but we'll see fewer of them in 2011. However, natural disasters will accelerate. Another catastrophe will happen so that we wake up to our underlying condition: that we have badly mistreated the planet and this has to stop.

In 2011, I see a volcano erupting in another part of the world (not Iceland), a major eruption. I also see another natural disaster somewhere in South America.

Politics

Republicans are going to win power in both houses. Democrats will lose their majorities. It's going to become increasingly clear that Obama will have trouble being elected to a second term. He will be attacked in the fall, beyond our imagination - it will be an extremely difficult time for him - a time when his enemies will make a huge deal about his mistakes and people will lose faith in him more so than they have already.

I see a lot of protests in the streets in 2011. The Republicans will be glad they took so many seats in Congress, but their power will be short lived. Politics won't solve our problems because we're far too divided. First, we will have to come together in other ways and then in 2018 we will see much more unity, an end to the blue state/red state divide dominating politics and the two-party system that creates obstructionism and log jams. From 2011 into 2012, I see some presidents and leaders disappearing suddenly like the President of Poland "disappeared" by dying in a plane crash unexpectedly.

I see a new man on the Republican front, unknown now, emerging in June of 2011, with the initials M and W. He's tall and in his 40s and comes out of the woods.

Queen Elizabeth's health is not good during 2011 and we will also see problems within the Vatican.

Medical Breakthroughs

The real medical breakthrough in the coming years will be the true understanding of how the body works. There are things we never thought of before that will give us a completely new understanding and perception of the human body. We will learn much more about the energy fields of the body and how we can work with them.

Immigration

We will see progress on immigration law, but all of our laws are going to be in contradiction and conflict because we're so split; there is too much disagreement.

Healthcare

The new bill will not do very much to change the health care system for the better because the divisiveness prevented us from getting to the heart of the problems.

The Oil Spill

As awful as this accident has been, I think we will clean it up better than we think we will at this time - the damage will be bad, but not completely devastating to the gulf. And unfortunately, when it comes to energy policy, this event won't be a "game changer." We will still drill for oil. Obama's intentions are good but he's not being practical; our thirst for cheap oil is too great. This is not going to trigger a big shift to alternative energy research and development. However, oil and gas will become more expensive and that will trigger conservation and a push toward alternative energies.

The Entertainment Business

I predict we will see a lot of TV shows and movies that are historical or about religion, or the changes we've gone through. Entertainment will reflect what's been bothering us at the subconscious level, that we have been too focused on what is trivial. We will be looking for more substance.

We want to see where we've been: I see a big historical movie coming out, looking at the low level of consciousness we have left behind hundreds of years ago, and another one that will be about the future of the world, portraying our future in a way we've never seen it before-a film that will be huge, like Avatar. These films will come out in 2011 or 2012.

I see a young man in the music business, who has light hair, becoming very well known in broadcasting or news.

Book publishers and newspapers will survive and business will pick up, big time, as it adjusts the new ways that people are accessing information. What will sell will not be celebrity and gossip so much as books on substantive issues that people globally are interested in. We'll see the emergence of a major new publishing house.

2011 Psychic Predictions on News, Health, and Society: Derek Calibre

NEWS AND POLITICS 2011 PREDICTIONS

Overall, 2011 will be a solid year of growth, as we reap hard earned rewards and make good progress towards seeing our way through tough environmental lessons. Renewed abundance, purity, security, and trust will be key themes for 2011.

New security technology, or identity systems, will improve the flow of people through airports, as the airline industry has one of its safest years ever.

Iceland will help bring about peace, playing an intermediary role in an international dispute.

High speed and solar powered trains are coming to the U.S.A.!

The U.S. Navy and other maritime agencies will be busy patrolling the seas after a boat is used in a nefarious plot.

Oil companies will be forced to discreetly plumb for crude off foreign shores as Western states permanently ban all off-shore oil drilling. First and second world countries will make modest progress toward weaning themselves off oil.

HEALTH AND ENVIRONMENT 2011 PREDICTIONS

San Francisco yet again makes a name for itself as one of the most progressive cities in the world- through a law regulating fat content, pesticides, or nutrition standards.

Home-based health monitoring devices - linked to doctor's offices through the internet - will become more common as the health care industry takes advantage of technology in its quest to make healing cheaper, easier, and more efficient.

An age regression therapy (probably inorganic), in which a person returns to an earlier stage of life in order to explore a memory, seems to hold promise for law enforcement, history books, family reunions, and more.

The life expectancy of humans will increase by the highest rate in two decades.

Researchers, from two countries on two different continents, will announce a major breakthrough on a mental health disorder such as depression or Alzheimer's disease.

SOCIETY AND LAW 2011 PREDICTIONS

A lesbian couple will help gay marriage take one giant step forward, probably on the federal level.

New research relating to metabolic function and the link between the mind and the body will lead to significant progress in thyroid issues, hormonal imbalances, and weight control programs.

The secret activities of a once united couple will read like a spy novel, and serve to remind us that our enemies aren't just in Western and Southern Asia - they're right here at home.

A movement to add a new sport featuring technology to future Olympic games will gain traction.

Derek Calibre has worked as a professional psychic since 2004 in New York, Tokyo, and Honolulu. He has been featured on CNN, NBC News 8's Psychic Hawaii, and Comcast, where he hosted a show called Psychic Workshop on Video On Demand. Derek is the author of "Can You Turn It Off? A Diary of Psychic Awakening." He lives and works in Manhattan. For information: <http://www.derekalibre.com>

2011 Psychic Predictions by Tarot Reader Donna Henes, Urban Shaman

I did a 13-card tarot reading asking about psychic predictions for the coming year.

There will be an underlying pervasive sense of being stuck in the muck, a feeling of lethargy, of lost hope and stagnation.

Progress on many fronts will feel thwarted. Things will not be moving at a satisfactory pace or direction.

The feeling of being held back will be confusing, since we won't really know where we want to go, anyway.

This stubborn standstill will feel frustrating and disappointing. And it will propel us to make unconsidered and perhaps foolhardy decisions just to get moving again.

On the other hand, 2011 offers us the chance to reflect — if we are willing to — on our lives and our life styles, particularly on the physical, material plane.

Events in the recent past have presented us with the opportunity to learn major, transformative spiritual lessons, but we won't want to face them. We will, instead try to turn our back on them and refuse to become enlightened.

The issue of integrity, or the lack thereof, will be in the forefront of people's minds. Ethics will be scrutinized, infractions, magnetized. It will be crucial to uphold integrity on every level.

Our house, that is, the environment that surrounds us on a personal, public, and political level — will seem out of balance, necessitating a thorough reordering so that we can restore the balance of our priorities.

There will be a new willingness to work together synergistically in partnerships and teams.

The potential outcome will be the creation of a stronger, more secure foundation, along with more principled political and corporate goals, organization, and leadership.

Mama Donna Henes is an internationally renowned urban shaman, eco-ceremonialist, ritual expert, spiritual counselor, award-winning author, popular speaker and workshop leader. She currently writes for the Huffington Post, Beliefnet and UPI Religion and Spirituality Forum.

2011 Psychic Predictions on Celebrities, Sports, and Music: Jenny Smedley

British psychic Jenny Smedley offers for 2011 psychic predictions on politics, music, sports, celebrities, and much more.

POLITICS

There will be political upheaval in the following countries: Australia, Denmark, Luxembourg, Iceland, Vietnam, and the United Kingdom

CELEBRITY

John Travolta will start a whole new career.

Cheryl Cole will recognize that true love has been right beside her all along and she'll be pregnant by the end of 2011.

Clint Eastwood will win his final Oscar.

Brad Pitt will also win an Oscar, but not his last.

Jennifer Lawrence will win her first Oscar.

HOME

People will start growing their own food on a level unprecedented since WW II There will be fights over possession of allotments.

RELIGION

The Catholic Church will go through complete upheaval and discussion will include priests being allowed to marry.

ECONOMY

Interest rates will rise in 2011, but only to about 1.5%.

MUSIC

JLS will go to the USA and become even more successful.

SPIRITUAL

A belief in angels will supersede all other belief systems as 2012 approaches.

SPORTS

Australia will win the Rugby World Cup.

England will make the final of the Football World Cup.

WEIRD

A message will reach Earth that a lot of people will believe comes from another planet. It will be the mystery of the decade.

Jenny Smedley's spiritual story started with one life-changing second that revealed a hitherto unknown, past life to her. She now writes for Hay House Publishers. So far she has three best-sellers with them: Pets Have Souls Too, Angel Whispers, and Soul Angels. Jenny currently writes regular columns for its fate, and Soul & Spirit magazines in the UK, Take 5 in Australia, and Lucky Break in New Zealand. Her most recent press appearances have been in The Daily Mail – “World Renowned,” The Daily Express – “Unique rapport with the natural world,” and The Sunday Times Style magazine – “A global phenomenon.” Jenny lives with her husband of 40 years, Tony, and their reincarnated dog, KC, in The Blackdown Hills area of the beautiful county of Somerset in England. You can visit her online at <http://www.jennysmedley.com>

2011 Psychic Predictions on World Events, Politics, and Celebrities: Laura Scott

A sudden, life-threatening medical issue with one of the long standing Supreme Court judges will lead to a quick third Supreme Court appointee/nominee by President Obama.

Nations who share the waters of the Gulf Coast will try to pursue the United States for reparations for oil damages to their beaches and coastlines. Cuba's leadership is very vocal and outspoken in leading the charge against the US. They will be unsuccessful.

BP goes bankrupt before meeting their obligations to make things right, leaving our nation holding the bag for the worst environmental disaster in world history.

An Environmental Crisis Czar Division is appointed to coordinate, oversee, and improve gulf oil disaster methods. The level of damage in the gulf will require this division to remain in place for several years. A special overseeing division becomes the standard for future such disasters.

Magic Johnson has a car accident with some significant injuries. He will ultimately recover, and it will become the subject of a book, speaking tour, motivational expansion for the talented business man and entrepreneur.

A major cruise line is shut down for several weeks late next summer due to health concerns stemming from passengers with viral infections. It is the worst shut down the industry has faced yet.

People grow increasingly tired of Sarah Palin and her family due to overexposure.

John Edwards attempts a comeback, and is back in the news, but public sentiment and support for him just isn't there.

Joren Van der Sloot is implicated in other crimes against missing women. His mental stability remains in question. No one speaks on his behalf.

Comedian Kathy Griffin finds love and marries.

US Car manufacturers begin to integrate docking stations for iPads and Android phones off the assembly line instead of equipping vehicles with GPS screens, creating partnerships with carriers like Verizon and AT&T. People will be able to just plug their own devices in to watch DVDs, etc.

Beef is back! With all the damage to the Gulf coast fisheries, people coast to coast are eating beef with gusto. The beef industry is booming, along with other meat industries including buffalo and pork.

Kate Hudson finds lasting love again.

Madonna's charity work continues, her clothing line in partnership with her daughter Lola begins to take off. Lola will be more in the spotlight in the coming years and play a keen role in business management.

24: The Movie will begin to get some serious buzz and start production. It will be a big financial hit at the box office, and a huge success both with existing fans and new ones.

Oprah's best friend, Gail King finds love again, late in the year.

Breakthroughs in research for Parkinson's disease, genetically linked diseases, and cancers leap forward. Isolation of gene proteins and protein therapies continue to make strides in previously tough to treat cases. Chemo and radiation begins to undergo a shift, better therapy trials happening with energy medicine, alternative, and integrative options hits all time high.

2011 Psychic Predictions: Dr. Patricia Bell

2011 is the year where the dream can come true. Yet this year is not going to be as turbulent as 2010. We can count on our fear showing because we are on the verge of major change. Batten down the hatches and be emotionally intelligent!

This is a year where emotions can be very revealing. Who you are inside will determine how your outside world will be working.

The stress of 2010 will leave us in a place where we need to heal ourselves and lives. The key is use the emotion to put the dream in motion. So give yourself a spiritual routine so that you can tap into the true power that manifests the life you want. Remember the only way out of a maze is up!

Dr. Patricia Bell is regarded as one of the world's most gifted clairvoyants and participant each year at Lily Dale in upstate New York. The founder of two self-help centers, Dr. Patricia Bell has loyal followings throughout the United States and Eastern Europe. Her clientele ranges from young children to elders, including celebrities and corporate executives. Her new book is Timeless Love.

Zachary Selig's Psychic Predictions for 2011

Social Evolution

We are becoming an Empathetic Civilization, a global society that perceives through feeling versus thinking. A great transition has occurred in the last 2 years, where we have moved from an Information Age to a Conceptual Age. In order to survive, it will be clear in 2011 that there must be a balance of the left and right brain modalities in life - the scientific and the creative forming conceptualization will become the new communication standard.

Purely linear intellectualism is becoming obsolete, as the world has embraced fully the Information Age with over-thinking in a short span of 20 years, catapulting humankind into its original simplistic state of sensorial perception. On one hand it is a forward progression, yet in truth this evolution is a return to the basic human nature of embracing all human senses.

We have overextended every tried and true model with most consumer products from entertainment, Internet, fashion, literary to automobiles in the mass production formed from homogenized intellectual templates, losing core originality in insane material and technology delivery pursuits fueled by greed. Most products and their creators are dead in the selfishness of their robotized spirits that solely think about a financial end, versus a process and a soulful product that co-generates in purpose.

A focus on governments' creative education will be as important as scientific education in the coming years, as the demise of the lie of the old model of purely linear programming that lacks empathy fails.

Economy

A world -view of a conceptual economy will arise in the West, as all else has failed to create progress in the face of the global crisis. The anger of a suffering populace, whose eyes will be opened to the deeper truth of what it means to be humane, will force this change in many revolutionary events.

There will be those in the elite economic classes, especially in third world countries, who will continue to gain from the old economic formats. This economic balance of power will not metamorphosis for another 10 years, as countries struggle with the supply of water, fuel, and food sources that become scarce due to demands from uncontrolled overpopulation.

Those businesses that contribute to humanity's evolution and benefit the planet will have economic growth and expansion as authentic agents of prosperity.

Politics

There will be a divided popularity between the Republican Party and Tea Party in the US in new liberal platforms that are equipped to structure government systems that will generate a positive attitude in a de-stressed public, which will perpetuate a slow upward emotional flow, versus fear-based stagnation from ineffective masked political ideologies.

Relationships

In the under 25-year age group, it will be the norm that there is an acceptance that humankind is composed of 30% Homosexuals and 50% Heterosexuals with a 20% Bisexual and Transgender mix.

In the coming years, the desire to procreate or adopt will subside and there will be much less Heterosexuals than Homosexuals, Bisexuals, and Transgender.

The US will gradually begin to stop dictating whom people can love as much of the world transitions from unrealistic collective dogmas into individuated relationship identities that are emotionally and physically authentic.

Weather

The Southwest will be in a drought and recognize the perils ahead with water shortages. New salinization systems will be built in California that will become a huge trend throughout global desert regions.

The Northeast will have massive hurricanes with urban flooding in regions that are not prepared.

The Midwest will have earthquakes close in size to those of the 19th Century. Cities will be damaged in Missouri.

Volcanic eruptions around the world that will effect climate change and transportation, especially in the Americas and Indonesia.

The Mississippi and other Southern states will have massive flooding and New Orleans will be flooded, again.

Tornadoes will strike large urban communities in the South and Midwest.

There will be extremely cold weather throughout Europe and extreme weather that has not occurred in centuries.

There will be one major Tsunami in Asia.

There will be periodic Internet blackouts across the planet created by meteor showers.

Health

There will be epidemics of stomach and intestinal parasites from contaminated food products with the appearance of influenza in first world countries, but in reality require parasitical treatments as those of Africa, Latin America, and Asia.

Advances in anti-aging will be at the forefront in the US, with alternative methodologies absorbed and repackaged by traditional medicine.

There will be new air-borne viruses that affect every part of the human body.

More skin related diseases from a lack of Vitamin D in locations where fish is not part of a standard diet, especially in areas affected by ozone depletion.

There will be a mass movement to proven alternative wellness therapies for both preventative and curative treatments with the rising cost of traditional healthcare in the wealthy nations.

2011 Psychic Predictions: Christopher Renstrom's 2011 Astrological Forecast

Thank heavens, 2011 will be a kinder, gentler year than 2010 was. Admittedly, we will still have to contend with potentially disruptive planetary energies in January and April 2011, but once benevolent Jupiter enters earthy Taurus on June 4, 2011, we will see a return to normalcy after 14 months of craziness. So what do we have to look forward to? Dramatic medical breakthroughs dealing with the brain, an ecological revolution in full-swing, and an economy that's in far better shape than anyone thought possible by year's end. The downside? Immigration laws will be made more stringent, the threat of terrorist attacks will be on the rise, and the "new age" will take on a seriously darker tone. Read all about in the 2011 astrological predictions below.

LINDSAY LOHAN ENTERS REHAB

On January 4, 2011, Child of the Moon Lindsay Lohan will be dragged into rehab. It's not quite kicking and screaming, but it will be close. This will be connected to a very dramatic incident that rivals Britney Spears in her heyday.

ALZHEIMER'S BREAKTHROUGH

Look for a news announcement regarding an exciting breakthrough in Alzheimer's treatment and/or therapy around February 25, 2011. This is when Jupiter in Aries will be at the height of its planetary influence. Aries is the zodiac sign connected to the head and the parade of planets that will be traveling through this sign (which lasts until May 2011) could also bring dramatic developments in ADHD treatment, artificial intelligence, and memory recall.

POPE UNDER VATICAN ARREST?

Pope Benedict will find himself squeezed even tighter between the Devil and the Deep Blue Sea in late March and April 2011 when even more damning allegations come to light. Although the United Nations can't exactly send a peacekeeping force to St. Peter's Square, we will see the international community become more insistent on transparency and accountability. This will create a firestorm of controversy that will continue for the next few years resulting in a major upheaval in 2016.

FINAL FATE OF OSAMA BIN LADEN REVEALED

Is he dead or alive? Nobody knows for sure, as Osama bin Laden sightings are becoming the stuff of legend like Big Foot, The Loch Ness Monster, and the Grand Duchess Anastasia. Nevertheless, his name will be in the headlines again when Neptune enters Pisces on March 4, 2011. This could have to do with his capture, but it's more likely that it will be news that he's been dead for months (or even years). Of course, this will give rise to a new crop of conspiracy theories that the story is really a CIA plant and so it goes.

INTERNATIONAL STRESS TEST

Tensions among the super powers spike again from April 3 through May 12, 2011 when Mars, the planet of war, marches through Aries. We can expect lots of sabre-rattling, but given what went down in July and November of 2010, nobody will be in a hurry to carry out their threats. Nobody's interested in repeating those close calls. The interesting thing to note here will be China's emerging role as peace broker. This is a trend that will continue given China's interests in Africa and South America. It will also leave critics debating whether China is sincere about embracing humanitarian and environmental reform.

SPILL BABY SPILL

One good thing (if you can call it that) to come out of the 2010 BP oil spill will be the push to convert to - and to aggressively market - alternative energy resources. Not only will this appeal to the American spirit of entrepreneurship, but it serves a greater national purpose as well. In fact, this could lead Barack Obama to announce a kind of "green corps," which would be his administration's version of FDR's WPA and JFK's peace corps combined. Considering how the BP oil leak began two days before International Earth Day 2010, an announcement like this on April 22, 2011 would be a pretty good idea. It would also coincide with a stellium of planets in Aries (Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, and Uranus will all be in this gung-ho sign), which makes it the perfect time to launch a crusade.

IT'S RAINING JOBS

2011 will see an increase in job growth in March, May, and September. The planet Mercury will be a big influence here, so look for jobs to be created in Mercury ruled markets. So what does Mercury rule? Anything connected to communications, media, sales, companionship, travel, analysis, small animals and children, as well as early education and training. So what kind of jobs would these be exactly? Accounting, book-keeping, on-line sales, tech support, nursing, teaching, resort industries, physical therapist, physical trainer, childcare, pet care, graphic design, webpage, design, research, and day trader.

IMMIGRATION TAKES A STEP BACKWARDS

The immigration bill signed into law in April 2010 will find many states passing similar legislation in 2011. The reason for this is that the bill was passed when the Sun was in Pisces and the Moon was exalted in Taurus. Jupiter (the planet of big government) was also in Pisces at the time and so Jupiter's entrance into Taurus on June 4, 2011 will bring out all of this earth sign's territorial tendencies. This will only increase as we get closer to September 11, 2011 - the 10-year anniversary of 9/11, so keep your papers next to your car registration in your glove compartment.

LINDSAY LOHAN OUT OF REHAB

The actress Lindsay Lohan will emerge from rehab a very changed woman on or around June 15, 2011. Her story will be inspirational and may even lead her to found her own clinic a la Betty Ford.

9/11/11

You don't have to be an astrologer to predict that there will be a rise in terror threats in 2011. 2011 is the tenth anniversary of the September 11 attacks and thankfully Mars, the planetary trigger portending the original attack, won't be anywhere near those eclipse points, so things should be okay on the home front. However, Venus will be in Scorpio, which implies that a famous American ally could be targeted during the two weeks running up to 9/11 or the two weeks after. Although the threat is real, there is nothing saying that it will be successfully carried out, especially since Mercury will be retrograde at this time. Mercury retrograde is famous for tossing a cosmic monkey wrench into best-laid plans and seems to be the bane of would-be terrorists everywhere, as the failed attempts of the Christmas Day bomber in 2009 and the Times Square bomber in 2010 attest.

THE UNBUNDLING OF GOOGLE?

Google was incorporated on September 4, 1998, which means that it's a Virgo. Virgo is the perfect sign to describe a company connected to word searches and transforming the media industry as we know it. Google's Sun at 11 degrees Virgo (yes, companies have horoscopes just like people do) will be impacted by the solar eclipse on June 1, 2011 at 11 degrees Gemini. This may not affect the company right away (eclipses can take up to two years to play themselves out), but we can expect to see mounting pressure for the company to split into two distinct entities in August 2011, June 2012, December 2012, and finally in the spring of 2013. Mercury, the planetary ruler of Virgo, is also the ruler of Gemini, zodiac sign of the twins, so the idea of two separate, yet "identical" companies would make perfect sense.

THE TEA PARTY REACHES A FULL BOIL

There will be no stopping the tea party movement as it marches full-steam ahead from January 2011 through June 2011. One of the more ironic twists will be in its organized protests aimed at stopping the war abroad. This will effectively transform the Tea Party into the 21st century version of the 1960s antiwar movement. The end result will be intense pressure on Congress and the president to bring the troops home starting in October of 2011.

OLYMPIC SPIRIT

Paralympics will get even more exposure in 2011 in the run up to the games of 2012 and 2014. All that's needed is the equivalent of a Michael Phelps or a Nadia Comaneci to arrive on the scene and this should happen during the summer of 2011. S/he will be connected to some sort of act of heroism. Perhaps this person was seriously wounded in a war or was a former athlete who suffered a career-ending injury. In any case, this person has all the makings of an international sensation.

AUTISM LINKED TO VACCINATION: FRAUD OR FACT?

New evidence will come to light some time around June 3, 2011 or November 9, 2011 that will reignite the controversy of autism being linked to childhood vaccinations. This was first reported in a British study in February 1998 when Neptune entered the astrological sign of Aquarius. On June 3, 2011, Neptune will finally leave Aquarius (after a 13-year stay) and enter its own sign, Pisces. Neptune is the planet of illusion and disillusionment and even though the Lancet study has been proven false, it doesn't necessarily mean that its findings were all together wrong. Neptune's change of sign in June 2011 and subsequent retrograde in November 2011 could coincide with the discovery of a heretofore unknown scientific study or a surprise revelation that throws a very different light on the link.

WACO 2012

In October 2011, we will start to hear word of a millennialist cult led by a charismatic leader and founded on the prophecies of the Mayan calendar that says the world will come to an end in December 2012. It will be of passing interest until news leaks out that followers are being kept against their will and that there is a stockpiling of weapons. Fears of another Jonestown or Waco in the works will fuel the public imagination as we are again treated to images of armed government agencies surrounding a compound. It's unclear as to whether things will be resolved peacefully. There is a strong millennial streak in our nation's history and this could actually wind up becoming a repeat performance of what has come before while setting off a series of copycat incidents in early 2012. Hopefully, a different approach will be adopted this time.

LINDSAY LOHAN BACK IN REHAB

The solar eclipse on November 25, 2011 shows that the actress Lindsay Lohan will be back in rehab. This will spawn talk of a "reality-based" series with an interactive blog chronicling her ups and downs. Her progress will be discussed intensely on cable networks, Facebook, and Twitter over the winter holidays.

This inspires Mariah Carey to launch her own line of clinics aimed at helping celebrities recover from mental meltdowns in public.

2011 Psychic Predictions: Common Sense Psychic Phyllis King

11 is the year when we start to see movement in all areas of our national and global economy. This is the time that we believe recovery is happening. Unemployment will go down, but not quickly. There will still be a lot of reticence in the market place to make decisions. More and more businesses will hire, and individuals will loosen their belts a bit.

That being said, the rules of the economic game have changed forever. People will still feel uncertain and unclear about the future. They don't recognize anything anymore about how our systems are working. Financial instruments are different. The rules of the game are different. Even though economic numbers are improving, there is still an underlying feeling of being unsettled.

2011 is also the year we ask ourselves "did we learn our lessons?" This year will prove to be pivotal in many ways. If we did indeed learn our lessons, then 2012 will be a banner financial year. This will be the year Obama's popularity will either return after "saving" the economy or tank for leading us incorrectly.

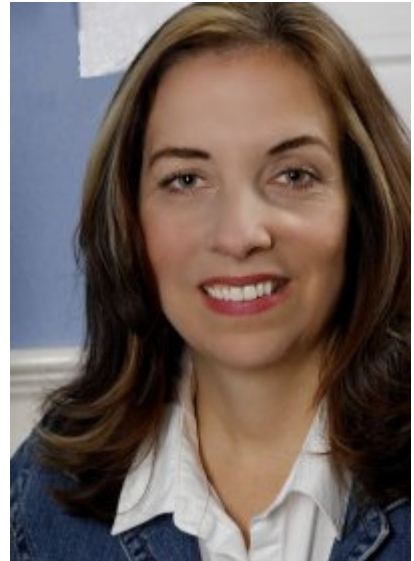

If we did not learn our lessons, then we will see yet another decline in 2010 economically. Energy suggests we are in a 50/50 proposition with this projection. We literally are holding our futures in our hands by what we think and the actions we take owing to those thoughts.

If we try to go back to business as usual, we will likely return to deep economic upheaval. We must be flexible and embrace the changes of the past three years. If we do so we will move into a new era that suggests longer term stability for everyone. I believe we will have the answer to this question no later than the 2nd quarter of 2011.

Meanwhile, as the economy fights its way back to stability, we will continue to see major physical events on the planet. We will continue to experience unique weather patterns. We will also continue to see earthquake activity all over the planet. We will again experience large earthquakes in Asia, Indonesia, and the western United States. We will also see tsunami events, more volcanic activity, and hurricanes specifically in tropical areas of the United States. We will see flooding in the flat states in America.

Unfortunately, we may see our first successful terror attack on US soil since 9/11. The attack will be a bomb. It will occur in the eastern seaboard. Yet, its effect will be more emotional than physical. The attempts will continue to be crude and unsophisticated. Yet, the frequency of attempts will increase. A bumbling terrorist will get lucky with their home made cocktail. No death will occur, but there will be some property damage, and it will be yet another call to action to construct effective security systems.

Specifically we will see much more profiling, and a cantankerous debate over immigration. Latinos are going to suffer the brunt of terrorist activity. Although we are not being attacked by those south of the border, they are visible to us. We will focus on our southern borders. Once again the US will place its frustrations on people who didn't do anything to us.

Iran will continue to cause the US and the world community great concern over their nuclear program. Although nothing will come to the forefront in 2011, an aggressive policy will be implemented to require Iran to comply with UN resolutions. We may see an escalation of force used against Iran, or the US will be gearing up for that in 2012.

North Korea will continue to remain unstable, yet truly pose no legitimate threat. They continue to thirst for respect. Pakistan will play a greater role in peace than before. Their relationship to the US has been unreliable. That will change. We will pull out troops out of Iraq significantly. Iraq will hold its own. Afghanistan is another story. That will continue to be Obama's war.

Mexico will become a larger player in the Global community, as the US and Mexico struggle to create a policy to deal with the drug cartels, and their imports to the US. We will see many attempts at various instruments that will legalize drugs in some way. We may see some legalization occur in California, Vermont, Washington and Oregon. In Mexico, we will see a compendium of justice makers offer true solutions to the corruption in law enforcement. It will be a task force that is not only effective, but brings credibility to the region. A leader will emerge from this movement that inspires many in South America.

Hollywood will have some of its best years ever in the movie business. We will see records continue to be broken at the box office. Stars that are potent this year will remain potent next year. Yet, we will begin to see a new generation emerge, with a number of young actors. They will carry a similar weight, as did the Rat Pack and the Brat Pack of previous generations.

We will also see a new market emerge for people over 50, specifically women. The ilk of Sex in the City will continue. We will say good bye to some major movie stars and musicians in 2011. It will be shocking in nature, much like the passing of Michael Jackson in 2009.

Online social networking will continue to dominate the scene, and grow even larger. We will continue to see more matchmaking websites like match.com and entertainment venues like Youtube will thrive. In many ways, this is the emergence of people taking back their power in the marketplace.

All in all 2011 will be one of the best years we have had in recent memory. Lingering fears and uncertainty will still prevail. Nationally and globally, we have a choice to make. President Obama will play a significant role in that. If he can lead us effectively, we will turn the corner on our economic woes for the foreseeable future. If he missteps and does not lead us appropriately, we will likely sink back into an economic hole in 2012. Energy suggests it is up to us. We have a choice in the matter. It is based upon our ability to be flexible and embrace change.

When we elected Obama, it was based upon wanting "change." Now, we will have to put our money where our mouth is and change. That means accommodate new ideas, and embrace new financial instruments and protocols.

On the personal level, this is the year we all get to breathe easier for a longer period of time. If you have been unemployed for a significant period of time this is the time you will finally connect with employment. For many people, focus will return to relationships over finances for the first time in about five years. It's a good year for love, expanding family, and for repairing relationships. It remains a time when we will be surprised and shocked by events in the world, near and far away.

The message for 2011 is remain flexible, and embrace change. There is no going back to what was. Success will lie in moving forward in new directions and with new ideas. If you started a business, stay committed to it. If you ended a relationship, start a new one. Don't give up on yourself. You will reap the benefits in 2012.

Phyllis King is known as the Common Sense psychic because she loves to give practical and down to earth advice. Phyllis is best known as a radio psychic with a syndicated radio show in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle. She has read thousands of people in 20 different countries and has appeared on CBS TV, NBC TV, and radio programs across the country. Phyllis hosts workshops and group reading events regularly. To learn more, visit <http://www.phyllisking.net>.

2011 Psychic Predictions: Jane Doherty's 2011 Forecast

Awareness, intense events, decisions, and a greater need to understand the purpose of life are key words to remember in 2011. We will experience events, make decisions, choose to eliminate what no longer serves us, change in some way, and then repeat the process all over again. If life seemed fast in the past five years, get ready to trade in your roller skates for something much faster. Our fast-paced life moves up several notches.

2011 will shake our beliefs, "open our eyes" to reality, and force us to express our opinions and take action. The energy in the previous year tried to gently pry us from complacency. It allowed us to see a "glimpse" into the future. We recognized there could be a lot of change ahead, but we were unsure whether it was going to be good or bad. 2011 will teach us not everything we have seen, believed, been told has been true. Our core beliefs will be tested and re-defined.

2011 could be a very exciting time. Some people that were never before sensitive to energy will begin to "feel" life in a whole different way. They may be shocked on how almost out the blue they have become "sensitive." Ordinary people will experience paranormal experiences. Some will be happy and others will seek understanding or react by becoming fearful. Eventually, we will understand there is a "greater" purpose for the increase in intuitive abilities. For now, intuition is a tool to help us see through the falsehoods and to make better decisions.

By the end of 2011, we will feel life is moving in ways we have never before experienced. The intensity of events we witness during the year will make us notice something is going on. Our thoughts will turn to 2012 and we will feel the events are leading us to something. We just don't know what it is.

How will the energies of 2011 personally affect us? This year, we will turn inward and assess how well we understand ourselves. We will evaluate our past actions and become determined to develop greater inner strength, confidence, and faith. Somehow, we do move toward transformation. As we do, we begin to see more co-operation amongst people as we get closer to 2012.

Medical breakthroughs make headlines. Medical researchers discover some type of cancers can be stopped by a plant found in a tropical rainforest. Research shows a combination of certain foods seem to stop the spread of the disease. A new direction in research will be announced because the cause and treatment of cancer begins to be defined very differently in the next 2 years.

Protests increase in the United States. This unrest leads to some outbreaks of violence. People get angry when they begin to see what they have trusted is not trustworthy. When duped, people react.

Terrorist attacks continue on US soil. Most will be averted, but a major attack happens in the south west area of the US and/or southern California. FBI will determine that the terrorists crossed into the United States through Mexico. There will be a lot of pressure on Obama to close the borders and take a hard stand on illegal immigration. Gangs from Mexico and drug dealers facilitate the terrorists' ability to cause the attacks.

Economy will recover, but the signs of recovery will take more time than expected. The housing sector improves, as well as the retail sector. Consumers start to feel confident to start buying again. The first to recover are the first areas affected in the downturn. Each sector of the economy will go through reform and then take steps forward towards recovery. It is a slow process, but we do move forward. There is hope for a full recovery, but life will feel different even after we have recovered.

Technology will continue to boom. The Internet will become even more popular than the past 2 years, even though it doesn't seem possible. More online sales are reported. New businesses online increase too.

Weather patterns continue to be erratic. Earthquake activity increases throughout the world. There will be more frequent earthquakes in Southern CA and the North West around Seattle area shaking things up as we move closer to the year 2012.

The political tea leaves show the 2010 election brings change. More people than ever vote – some of it in protest of the current administration. There is an overwhelming election win for Republicans. However, the current administration will try to ram things through congress before the newly elected officials are sworn in, resulting in anger, protests and more unrest. However, all elected officials will have to show they are for the people, because constituents will no longer settle for less. "Change we can believe in" duped so many that people will no longer sit back and let others do it. New interest in the US will move people toward patriotism. It will create an air of "real" co-operation as we end 2011.

2011 will see more fraudulent dealings exposed even in high places. More high profile divorces and high profile deaths. More than ever, we will want to return to our roots. The constitution will be revered now more than in the past 50 years. However, we will realize just how far we have faltered in following the Constitution.

2011 Psychic Predictions: Psychic Cyd

Predictions are designed specifically for individuals to prepare their own personal life for future events. Even though it is exciting to "see" whether a psychic is correct in their predictions, it is really for the individual to gain trust in order for their own life to be revealed. Their curiosity of the outside world helps them to reflect upon their own self, their own lives, and their own circumstances.

The year of 2011 holds an energy, not so much of world events, but more of individual change. It is an opportunity for each and every one of us to tap into this universal energy that will govern significant individual and personal changes to occur.

2011 is a year for re-evaluation of one's self and ones desires. It is about recognizing deep inside ourselves exactly what our greatest desire is and claiming it. It is about making serious commitment to have exactly what we must have with no exceptions thereof.

It will create great personal change, bringing opportunities for true love marriages, for new businesses, new partnerships emphasizing on our passions, and our purposes instead of financial obligations. It brings opportunity for long term commitments in all aspects of life, family, business, and community. It is a time for setting individuals lives into a firm foundation for the future.

We have seen plenty of hardships over the last few years. It is now time for deep, significant change within oneself to occur. We will see many people following their dreams...uniting in marriage, getting out of dead end careers. They will be listening to their inner voices and following their passions. They will no longer have fear about going after and claiming their dreams. They will be the pioneers of their own destiny. Their outcome of their actions will be long term fulfillment and deep satisfaction.

In the world...

The Islamic nation must once again defend themselves from threat of imminent attack. The U.S. will support forces overseas where there will be threat but not escalating to war.

No, the U.S. will not leave the Middle East. Even though there has been significant changes made, the land is still very volatile and will remain that way for many years to come.

The recession, since September, will start to balance out. What goes up must come down. It is the law of nature to redirect itself. No, it won't happen overnight. It will still take quite some time, but we all will see significant change after May.

Ok. Everyone likes celebrity gossip...

Jennifer Aniston will finally find love. It will be a strong love and a happy love. She will be making plans to be married by the fall. YEAH!

Angelina and Brad will split. (Not because of Jen)

It is time for Prince William to claim exactly just how powerful he really is! Sit back and watch, after all, he IS his mother's son.

We won't be missing Oprah for very long! She always has something new she wants to do.

.... and yet, finally, Brett Favre will retire. We will see him commentating and trying his fingers on a little coaching!

In closing, even though there will be some of us who's lives will end this year, life as we know it, will not cease to exist next year. So, rest assured that the world is not coming to an end in 2012!

If you look, just stop and feel for a little while, there is no true panic in our bodies. Our daily life is going on as normal. There is no panic in the streets. Mothers are not clinging to their children. Men are not preparing for the survival of their loved ones. If you take notice of all our animal life, there is no panic or "scurrying" behavior amongst them. They are not fleeing. The herds are not in movement. Their instinctual behavior has not been heightened.

Natural disasters will continue to occur. They always have, and being on such a powerful planet, they always will. It is called Earth.

Humans fight, it is how we learn.

Humans love, it is how peace returns.

Cyd is dedicated to the enlightenment of humankind and is committed to raising mass consciousness through her work with individuals and media outlets around the world. Cyd is considered the most gifted and talented clairvoyant of our time, sought after both by the media and by spiritually enlightened individuals for her prophetic visions ranging from global events to specific life forecasts.